NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH

The Crime Prevention Division of the Arlington County Police Department will be present to explain and give us information on how to organize the program for Barcroft. The success of this program for our area depends upon participation.

PRESIDENT'S CORNER: WHAT YOUR ARLINGTON COUNTY CIVIC ASSOCIATION MEANS TO YOU-----.

Arlington County civic associations through the Arlington County Civic Federation, observe, review, research, and act on civic matters that effect all aspects of your life in Arlington: the environment, pollution, parks, zoning, schools, transportation, taxes, state & local government, and any other potential areas in your neighborhood and in Arlington.

In the November 1982 issue of Washingtonian, is a reminder that Arlington is very special. Your community organization and elected officials work toward meeting standards of excellence & making improvements. THEY NEED YOUR INPUT AND PARTICIPATION TO ACHIEVE THE GOAL OF A BETTER Arlington.

Perhaps one reason your government runs smoothly and your taxes are the lowest is that your community observers are working and acting for all of us. If you compare the Arlington Civic Federation & those in areas you have lived previously, you are not surprised at how much and how well they voluntarily, freely, serve to improve your community. The community has an organization to turn to, to solve a problem in the community rather than to suffer it or ignore it.

Your local civic group is a way to get to know your community if you are a newcomer or a way to improve and serve your neighborhood. Whatever your background, skills and knowledge, there is an area where you can apply your talents, knowledge and efforts. You are needed to help those few carrying the load.

The Barcroft School and Civic League is an old and proud association. The founders gave of their time, money, and talents to build the Community House at 800 South Buchanan Street to provide a church for Sunday Services and an elementary school for their children during the week.

To improve & maintain a community people must: 1) say what they want & need 2) plan and organize 3) work to carry out those plans. This is YOUR COMMUNITY!
